Forbidden Wine

Joe Carson

In her lips so close to mine
If I kiss them will I find?
That trouble waits for those who taste
Forbidden wine

Should I take them for myself?
Or should I think of someone else?
Whose heart would break if I should taste
Forbidden wine

The promise that lies
In the glow of her eyes
Makes it so hard to hide
This love of mine

Should I give this love a start?
Or should I turn my hungry heart?
Away from her whose kisses are
forbidden wine

If I take her in my arms and respond to all her charms
Will I ever again find peace of mind?

She belongs to someone else
Yet I think only of myself
And my foolish desire
Forbidden Wine

The promise that lies
In the glow of her eyes
Makes it so hard to hide
This love of mine

Should I give this love a start?
Or should I turn my hungry heart?
Away from her whose kisses are
Forbidden wine

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/