Ms. Fortune

Injected

Found me dead on the side of the road, barely breathing
But my soul was seething alone
From all my guilt and shameFound you dead inside of your room, barely breathing
But your soul was screaming alone
It's time to put away your painIt's time you found out what I've been on aboutWell, misfortune's plain to see
When she's staring back at me
Ms. Fortune's plainWhen I came to I opened my eyes
And I breathed in all the life I was pushing away
Before I'd go insaneI look through you and I see something there that you don't see
If only you'd choose to believe me
You know you're more than just your painIt's time you found out what I've been on about
It's time you knew
Those eyes see right through youThe things that we've known
We've held too much to keep it inside
And hidden in the spaces we've shown
Why run, when there's nothing to hide?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/