Where Gods Once Rode

Demonaz

Once shadows called I saddled my horse
To the heights I rode over misty mountains
Through days of cold I battled by the sword
From wars blood I drank the flaming breath of strifeThe gods were young none ruled under the sky
At the end of worlds began the time of alliance
Forsworn to gold, men sold their sword to kings
Steel were made for those above the din of battleI see my ride where gods once rode
I see my ride where gods once rodeGreat fathers of the sky, fathers of the gods
And the mighty mountain I ride under heavy skies
For the will of iron and the pride of my kindLooked in the fire of thy doom
The prophecies were all true
Now the world is ending to
The end of days shall come soonI see my ride where gods once rode
I see my ride where gods once rode
