

Life In the Stars

Berman

i'm alright with this choosing to exist and i will savor every second i will make it through just knowing You and i am willing to cement it now it's so clear and so near that i can never turn my back in shame it doesn't get better than this falling behind one day at a time it couldn't get better than this so why try? now we're out of time just one sacrifice of turning off the lights and the world could be ours to hold soon the world will fade with everything we've made because living in the stars grows old
