Ready To Go

Boy Kill Boy

It's ok, it's ok, it's ok,
I won't stay here too long
Just wanna say, wanna say, wanna say
I never meant no harm
Wait for it, wait for it
I don't mind, I don't mind if you really need to hat me so If you need to believe that it never even meant that much Just wait for me, wait for me, wait for, wait for
I know it's no good for me
I know this aint family
It's all in the way we move
It's all in the way,
I'm trying to make you see, you see

When the time comes I'm ready to go
And then it's always so good to know
There's always a home sometimes
There's always a hmoe sometimes
And when the time comes
I am ready to leave
And then it's always so good to believe
There's always a home sometimes
There's always a home
I'm trying to make you see

Look away, look away, look away there's nothing to see here I'm trying to stay, trying to say this is only gonna bring you fear
Wait for it, wait for it
I don't mind, I don't mind

if you really need to let me go If you need to believe that there is really something you should know

Wait for me, wait for me, wait for me, wait for I know it's no good for me
I know this ain't family
It's all in the way we move
It's all in the way,
I'm trying to make you see, you see

When the time comes I'm ready to go
And then it's always so good to know
There's always a home sometimes
There's always a hmoe sometimes
And when the time comes
I am ready to leave
And then it's always so good to believe
There's always a home sometimes
There's always a home
I'm trying to make you see
Oh the lips don't lie (REPEAT)

When the time comes I'm ready to go
And the it's always so good to know
There's always a home sometimes
There's always a home sometimes
And when the times comes
I am ready to leave
And the it's always so good to believe
there's always a home sometimes
There's always a home
I'm trying to make you see

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by CHASE/CARR/PECK/MAHMOOD Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/