Describe You

Nico Muhly & Teitur

I was trying to describe you to someone
You dont look like anyone Ive seen before
I couldn't say she looks like James Bond does
You don't look like James Bond does at all
I finally ended up describing you as a movie I saw when I was a child
I think I was seven or eight or six
It was a movie about rural electrification
The movie, it was about farmers living in the country without electricity
They didn't have any appliances
And they had to use lanterns
They put poles across the countryside
Strung wire over fields and pastures
There was an incredible heroic dimension
The movie showed electricity like a young Greek god
Coming to take away forever
Dark ways of life
I was trying to describe you to someone
You don't look like anyone I've seen before
I couldn't say she looks like James Bond does
I couldn't say her mouth is a little different
You don't look like James Bond does at all
