Did You Forget

Perry Farrell

How can they fall for their lies?
How can they fall for their lies?Acting like the blood that flows
Into you heart is so sweet
Truer is the sap that flows
In the veins of a treeDid you forget? That's who you are
It's already been written down in the stars
And passed on from a father to his son
It's the time set aside for a holiday
Oh beware and be wiseGold is just dust
Still is richer than a mountain of clay
No matter how many deny itDid you forget? That's who you are
It's already been written down in the stars
And passed on from a father to his son
It's the time set aside for a holiday
Oh beware and be wise[Incomprehensible]Did you forget? That's who you are That's who you are
That's who you are
That's who you are
That's who you are
