Walls

Marta Palombo

behind these walls i started empty these hollow walls i made my own and in these walls i lived for something but now i'll fly far from the stone behind these walls i loved and lost it i built up worlds and watched them burn cradled here i found my comfort i found the calm after the storm and i know it's all the past and there's no use missing and i know i have to leave and there's no use wishing but i, but i

it was in these walls that i found myself again it was in these halls that i realized who i am and the wide world calls but it's safer here with you and the love that i have found here is safe between us too behind these walls i saw the shadows the voice of dreams still meant to come and in these walls i heard the echos that told me now i shouldn't run and i know that every heartbeat i will carry with me and i know the hope you let me find will never leave me

but i, but i

it was in these walls that i found myself again
it was in these halls that i realized who i am
and the wide world calls but it's safer here with you
and the love that i have found here is safe between us too now in these walls i will say my last goodbye it was here we melt down to [?] build the best years of our lives and if one day you find my pictures and you stare please don't regret we were in this, we were there it was in these walls that i knew we'd never end it was in these halls that the broken came to mend

and the wide world calls but it's safer here with you and the love that i have found here is safe between us in these walls, where i laughed and lived and cried it was in these halls that i chased a better life safe in these walls is a love that never dies hidden deep inside is a home i'll always find in these walls, we are endless we are safe and sound and the wide world calls, but it's brighter here with you and the love that i have found here is safe between us too

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/