Queens Die Proudly

Juliette Commagere

I first used to be in love
Then after a while the more I feared who was standing near us
The end now hits me the more I bleed for each who breaks out
In the morning with sun on to terrorize me
In the morning with famine on my lipsMy eyes cannot see through that What if we lose them now
My kind will never know
How fearful my visions
They find me in the moonlight
To tell you out loud
I fear they're going to cross, cross over
Queens die proudlyYour arrows and your pistols
Where my heart meets my skin
They've gone out to the woods they're gone
Now I'm old enough
We're only five miles out now
Mouths walk the walk
I miss you my dear friend
And that's not an answer
The air will blow my way
I'm asking it
I'm sighing all alone
I'm deep with it
The air's for me I know
I stay on
Yes cause they hound me
The night's overQueens die proudly
