

Wind

Soulstice

As the winds blows, my heart knows
As the wind blows through the trees
My heart is stirring like the leaves Even as the rain falls from the sky
Clouds fills my eyes and I wonder why
Wonder in a sense of amazement and awe
At how life begins It never seems to never seems to cease
In it's educating reminding awakening us
From the things that we think that we know
From the things that we think that we know As the wind blows, my heart knows
As the wind blows through the trees
My heart is stirring like the leaves Even as fires flames burning bright
I feel my soul is my guiding light
I wonder in a sense of amusement and awe
At how life evolves Never seems to never seems to cease
In it's elevating redefining awakening us
From the things that we think we know
From the things that we think we know, we know
I thought I knew I thought I knew As the wind blows, my heart knows
As the wind blows through the trees
My heart is stirred up like leaf I thought I knew I thought I knew
I thought I knew As the wind blows, my heart knows
As the wind blows, my heart knows
As the wind blows through the trees
My heart is stirring like the leaves

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>