

Solace

Myriam Gendron

There was a rose that faded young
I saw it's shattered beauty hung
Upon a broken stem
Upon a broken stem I heard them say "What need to care?"
"With roses budding everywhere?"
I did not answer them
I did not answer them
I did not answer them
I did not answer them There was a bird brought down to die they said "a hundred fill the sky"
"what reason to be sad?"
"what reason to be sad?" There was a girl whose lover fled
I did not waver while they said
"theres many another lad"
"theres many another lad"
