Snakes

Ltwj

I'm checking these vital signs the people I idolised were disguised in lies I'm getting the wrong idea it's more the fact I never realised I would look them in the eyes and never saw no evil it was a point in time I thought I should never trust no people

I wanna grab the rope and squeeze it and pull it like the trigger
I guess I've reached my limit it is bullshit but go figure
At the moment I will own it but I'm only getting bigger
Soon I will disown it I will crush the throne and I'll never think no different

Oh here's a fake
There's a fake
She's a fake
He's a fake
Can't look to my right without seeing a snake
Looking through my left eye i can see a mistake
I wanna see my life in its end
I really wanna know who stayed and remained as a friend
I'm feeling really drained and I can't seem to explain these days I just want it to end

There's a fake man here and a fake man there
I'm surrounded by them all they do not care
Even if they did then it's evident they ain't gonna change they're just gonna sit and stare

I am very aware
All of these people are breathing the air
All of these people will say that they're there
But I guess in the end it was all just a dare

Lyrics Submitted by Logan Jen

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/