Lost In Your Own Life

Alexa Vega

Dont have to be a wanderer alone Dont have to be a dog without a bone Just come to my house, Ill be home I can hear youAnd how did you end up lost at sea? You dont have a boat or live near a beach But if youre in need of rescuing I will hear youI want you to know Youre never alone Youll always have a place to go Its on a brighter sideIll color your night Ill lead you to life Put hope inside for you to findYou dont have to be lost Lost in your own life Lost in your own lifeDont have to have a heart thats turned to stone Dont have to be a king without a throne What does that even mean, do you even know? 'Cause I can hear youI want you to know Youre never alone Youll always have a place to go Its on a brighter sideIll color your night Ill lead you to life Put hope inside that you can findYou dont have to be lost Lost in your own lifeYou dont have to live in strife like before No one uses the word strife anymore (No, no, no, no, no)Ill color your night Ill lead you to life Put hope inside so you can findYou dont have to be lost Lost in your own life

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/

Lost in your own life La, la, la, la, la