Ursula Burns

Spotlight's shining brightly on my own face
I can't see a thing and yet I feel you looking my way
Empty stage with nothing but this girl
Who's singing this simple melody and wearing her heart on her sleeve
And right now
I have you, for a moment I can tell I've got you
'Cause your lips don't move and something is happening
'Cause your eyes tell me the truth
I've put a spell over you
Beauty emanates from every word that you say
And capture the deepest thoughts in the purest and simplest of ways
But you see I'm not that graceful like you nor am I as eloquent
But just a simple melody can change the way that you see me
And right now
I have you, for a moment I can tell I've got you
'Cause your lips don't move and something is happening
'Cause your eyes tell me the truth
I've put a spell over you
And all my life I stumble but up here I am just perfect
Perfect as I'll ever be, oh
I have you, for a moment I can tell I've got you
'Cause your lips don't move and something is happening
'Cause your eyes tell me the truth
I've put a spell over you
