

You've Really Got Something

Bananarama

You've really got, you've really got
You've really got something I remember how I once said
Don't let the guy go to your head
I was always the cautious one
Looking out for trouble But I have to say since you came my way
Every thing's alright You've really got something, something so fine
You really do move me, move me all night I remember my own advice
"Keep on moving and don't think twice"
My friends tell me I've changed my tune
Guess it's down to you 'Cause I have to say every thing's okay
Since you've been around You've really got something, something so fine
You really do move me, move me all night
You've really got something, something so fine
You really do move me, move me all night You've really got, you've really got
You've really got something
You've really got, you've really got
You've really got something I remember how I once said
Don't let the guy go to your head
I was always the cautious one
Looking out for trouble But I have to say since you came my way
Every thing's alright You've really got something, something so fine
You really do move me, move me all night
You've really got something, something so fine
You really do move me, move me all night You've really got something, something so fine
You really do move me, move me all night
