

You Are Being Loved

Steven Curtis Chapman

So you think love is only for the good enough
And one thing you're never gonna be worthy of
But there's a song being sung over you
By the One who breathes life into you You are being loved, you are being loved
Right now at this very moment
You are being loved, you are being loved
Right now, you are being loved, loved, loved
You are being loved, loved, you are You ought to see the smile you're bringing to your Father's face
You ought to hear Him sing his version of Amazing Grace
'Cause that's the song being sung over you
By the God who breathes life into you You are being loved, you are being loved
Right now at this very moment
You are being loved, you are being loved
Right now, you are being loved, loved, loved
You are being loved, loved, you are And with every breath that you're taking
And every beat of your heart
Even while this song is playing
Whatever you do, wherever you are
There's a song being sung over you You are being loved, you are being loved
Right now at this very moment
You are being loved, you are being loved
Right now, you are being loved, loved, loved
You are being loved, loved, you are You are loved, loved, loved
You are being loved, loved, you are
You are being, you are being, you are being loved
You are being, you are being, you are being loved right now There's a song being sung over you
There's a song being sung over you
There's a song being sung over you
There's a song being sung over you You are being loved, you are being loved
(There's a song being sung over you)
You are being loved, you are being loved
(There's a song being sung over you) You are being loved, you are being loved
(There's a song being sung over you)
You are being loved, you are being loved right now
(There's a song being sung over you) There's a song being sung over you
There's a song being sung over you
There's a song being sung over you
There's a song being sung over you right now

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>