

Parallel (Orchestral Version)

Heffron Drive

Counting stars, laying in the grass,
Side by side, your head on my shoulder
We talk a lot about nothing much,
With every breath we're getting closer
Parallel in this universe
Do we light up our hearts just to watch 'em burn?
Parallel, I will cross the lines,
'Cause maybe tonight the stars align
(the stars align) What if the one who was meant for you,
Was all along right in front of you
Just didn't see it, it was there all the time,
But I feel it tonight, yeah, the stars align
(the stars align) I take the thoughts out of your mind,
And put the pieces into my puzzle
Everything I wanna say about you,
Is more than enough to write a novel
Parallel in this universe
Do we light up our hearts just to watch 'em burn?
Parallel, I will cross the lines,
'Cause maybe tonight the stars align
(the stars align) What if the one who was meant for you,
Was all along right in front of you
Just didn't see it, it was there all the time,
But I feel it tonight, yeah, the stars align
I'd throw a rope, around the moon,
And pull it close, whatever it takes to be with you
Maybe tonight,
Maybe tonight the stars align.
(the stars align) What if the one who was meant for you,
Was all along right in front of you
Just didn't see it, it was there all the time
But I feel it tonight, yeah, the stars align
(the stars align, the stars align)

Songwriters

KENDALL SCHMIDT, TOBY GAD Published by

Lyrics Â© Atlas Music Publishing

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>