

Start the Machine

Angels & Airwaves

The ash set in then blew away
It's getting lost into the sea
I grew so close to all the thoughts I had to leave forever
I left the chill and voice of screams and kids and ran for shelter
You know, I won't say sorry
You know, I won't say sorry
The pain has a bad reaction
A blend of fear and passion
You know, what it's like to believe
It makes me wanna scream
I see a glow from far away
A faint reflection on the sea
I left some words quite far from here to be a short reminder
I laid them out in stone in case they need to last forever
You know, I won't say sorry
You know, I won't say sorry
The pain has a bad reaction
A blend of fear and passion
You know, what it's like to believe
It makes me wanna scream
I see the stars, they're in your eyes
A playful kiss, can you tell I'm excited?
A fast escape in the nick of time
If you lost your wish, can I help you to find it?
I'm on my knee, just want to start
A fresh new start, don't be undecided
If love is a word that you say
Then say it, I will listen
If love is a word that you say
Then say it, I will listen
If love is a word that you say
Then say it, I will listen
If love is a word that you say
Then say it, I will listen
If love is a word that you say
Then say it, I will listen
If love is a word that you say
Then say it, I will listen
I will listen
I will listen
...

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>