Roosterspur Bridge

Tori Amos

Somewhere down past Roosterspur bridge
Perhaps just a trick of the light
I thought I heard the sweetest guitar
Was it a rock and roll Jesus?Sometimes I think, I think I understand
The fear in the boy, the fire in the man
Sometimes I watch the wonder in your eyes
That and you leaving I have memorized
That and you leaving I have memorizedDrove all night through sliding rock falls
Thinking I'd find something that we'd lost
Can't remember when you stopped laughing
Or when I stopped wanting to winSometimes I think, I think I understand
The fear in the boy, the fire in the man
Sometimes I watch the wonder in your eyes
That and you leaving I have memorizedDo you even see me now?
Do you think of us still?
Do I always read things
Before a day's deliverance on Roosterspur bridge?Sometimes I think, I think I understand
The fear in the boy, the fire in the man
Sometimes I watch the wonder in your eyes
That and you leaving I have memorized
That and you leaving, that and you leaving I have memorized
