Freak Gasoline Fight Accident

It Dies Today

All hail the unseen ones, who dances in the shadows
Hidden from everyone in a veil of joyousness
Bathing in the darkness, exuding from the very bowels of mankind
With such longanimity had he tolerated the atrocity known as manAnd when the world finally comes to an end
He'll simply laugh and smile
For he would take such comfort in knowing
That there would be no tomorrow, tomorrowHe'd take such comfort in knowing
We'll never see the another day
For their degeneration mankind
Will finally know what it means to sufferUnderstand that he, he is hopeless, he is bitter
He is filled with great spite from witnessing first hand man's decline
He is simply hopeless, he is bitter and is filled with great spiteAnd when the world finally comes to an end
He'll simply laugh and smile
For he would take such comfort in knowing
That there would be no tomorrow, tomorrowHere's bidding farewell to a loathsome world

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/