

Casualties of War

Acrania

The shadows are surrounding me,
They scream no hope, no sight (no more!).
While the mud is chasing me and it's about to take my life,
I want to scream! I We're here in our grave to be alone.
Oh my friend, we have dag too much, so beware.
We march to the battle. Go on! Now revenge has come.
Now we must take their souls!
Send them, there, where chaos sets the norm,
And slay them, cuz' our journey has begun. Follow the instinct, follow the stars.
Eyes wide-open boy. We are casualties of war.
We're here in our grave to be alone.
Oh my friend, we have dag too much, so beware.
We march to the battle. Go on! Now revenge has come.
Now we must take their souls! And I've traveled to my homeland, to my dreams.
I know this crap will work; Fixing my head and my bloody soul.
Fading into hope, fading until done. Let this fucking drug flow! Take my hands and you will see
The fear of my war, the corpses on the mud...
So be prepared! For that! And all men have come to this.
A man can die, but once. Attack! Between the smell, the smell of the flames.
At the fire, dust and blood. What can I choose?
Fight, fight! You can't retract!
Fight my casualties of war! My casualties of life! Now I hear the crack.
One down! One fell!
The crying of destiny, which cannot go!
Cannot go on! This weekend scream is fading until done. Nothing is to be feared.
We shall resist, we shall not surrender.
Nothing is to be feared... but fear! I can see the light over there; I can see the rivers of blood under me.
I fought 'till the last gasp, I know, we fought so well.
It's time to go away from here, To leave this fucking hell where my brothers now stay. Now revenge is done!
Oh, now we have taken their souls!
I'm a casualty of life.
Now I'm going back to the light!
