Swan Dive

Strung Out

Well its hard to find the words to say what no one would say to you when you were 'round the loneliest caged bird sings the saddest song and you were never one to keep us guessing long if you ask me what went wrong I'll tell you nobody is doin' fine were all fucked up and doin' time the gates of Eden elude people like ourselvesI think about you every now and then more now than I ever did when you were down all reservations pass when chances slip away all songs play better from confusionNow I sit and I wonder how everyday gets a little shorter and I always feel I'm losin' out somehow don't wanna let another day go by without creation now if you ask me what went wrong when your fallin' you're the only one that doesn't see the distance sacrifice yourself to save yourself now we don't always walk the line and broadcast how we hurt sometimes and still at times it seems nobody wants to knowGive me some time I might remember everything you ever did or said to meIf you ask me what went wrong I'll tell you nobody is doin' fine
were all fucked up and doin' time the gates of Eden elude people like you and II think about you every now and then more now than I ever did when you were down
all reservations pass when chances slip away all songs play better from confusion...confusion...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/