

The Riches

Jane's Addiction

I love standin' by the water and just knowin' what it's for
It's alright to swim and sip it, let me have a little more
Like my woman, like my shower get them hot until their steamin'
Love to find a little spot, nice and shady
That's for dreamin' of the riches Oh, tell me where are you hidden?
'Cause ready or not babe I'm comin' to you into the life
Into the life, into the life of riches Streachin' out in the sun like a cat in the window
Hills are changin' colors as I'm watchin' shadows throw
I'm laughin' at these riches 'cause my stomach in the stitches
Early bird from the perch lookin' down
Can see all the world's riches Oh, tell me where are you hidden?
'Cause ready or not babe I'm comin' to you into the life
Oh, into the life, into the life of riches Never lookin' over my shoulder again
I wanna bide my time and bury on my faith
If you tell me no, then I really must insist
When the hunt is over kiss me on my lips, kisses, oh So lets talk about our plan you can count it's gonna work
Carry on, feel immortal at the risk of gettin' hurt
I'm praying that it rains so some day we'll be so wet
Livin' through a little pain
No complainin' as we're trainin' for the riches Oh, tell me where are you hidden?
Oh, all of a sudden there you are I'm happy that the sky is blue and that the earth is green
[Incomprehensible] and so much in between
I Love watchin' as the snow make brushes out of trees
Swingin' from the tops of [Incomprehensible] I'm happy that the sky is blue and that the earth is green
[Incomprehensible] and so much in between
I Love watchin' as the snow make brushes out of trees
Swingin' from the tops of [Incomprehensible]
