

I Confess

A.J. Croce

I Confess

All Words Music by A.J. Croce,
(c) 1995 Croce Publishing adm.
by Lefrak-Moelis Music, (ASCAP)

The lavender and moonlight
The sweet perfume of nightfall
A carousel of lovers
Whose indiscretions are benign
A catalog of heartache
Whose pages will not let themselves be turned (Chorus)

Your omnipresence in my dreams
Takes more a toll than it redeems
And I admit I can't forget you
So if you'll be my valentine
I swear to be your Valentino
I confess that I still love you
The winding road bears solace
The tortured soul has been released
The mockingbird is songless
But what he sings can't be denied
And metaphors of romance

Mean not a thing if they're misunderstood

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>