Dive Right In

Story of the Year

So here i go
I'll dive right in
Break through the waves
Straight to the ocean floorAnd although my hands are shaking
I lie perfectly still

'Cause I'm determined to let myself sink downAnd I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun againI could wave my arms and swim away
But never reach the shore

But for now I will lay face first in the sand

With the wreckage from ships that lost their wayAnd I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun againAnd I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun againAnd although my hands are shaking
I lie perfectly still

'Cause I'm determined to let myself sink downAnd I know I'm buried too far down To feel the warmth from the sun again
