

Mine

Taproot

When I look into your eyes you help me to realign
And show me just how to be myself inside
I'm in control of everything, it's taking time, but that's okay
I can bring you to my side, you're my blessing in disguise You're mine, you're mine
You're mine, you're mine
You're my blessing in disguise, you make me realize
Just how and where I want to be years from now When my focal point is set on something I know I'll get
It's not a question of how but more of when You're a hot commodity, the choice is mine and mine for keeps
I can bring you to my side, you're my blessing in disguise You're mine, you're mine
You're mine, you're mine
You're my blessing in disguise, you make me realize
Just how and where I want to be years from now When I look into your eyes you help me to realign
And show me just where my dedication lies
I'm in control of everything, it's taking time, but that's okay
I can bring you to my side, you're my blessing in disguise You're mine, you're mine
You're mine, you're mine
You're my blessing in disguise, you make me realize
Just how and where I want to be years from now You're my blessing in disguise, you make me realize
Just how and where I want to be years from now
You're my blessing in disguise, you make me realize
Just how and where I want to be

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>