Why

Justin Townes Earle

Maybe itâ€™s a blessing, a blessing in disguise
I know Iâ€™ll feel better someday
But right now Iâ€™m
Standing in the doorway
Iâ€™m slumped against the door frames
Waiting for you to leave before I cry again
Why canâ€™t I tell you a thing?
And why do you always think the worst of me, babe?

And once I was your love and once you was my heart
And there was only you now
Wondering where you are
So what did I say?
When did your heart change?
When did you grow so cold and hard babe?
Why canâ€™t I tell you a thing?
And why do you always think the worst of me, babe?

Darling I
Just donâ€™t understand
What you think that youâ€™re gonna find in a man

Maybe itâ€™s a blessing
I donâ€™t know
Never find out â€™til you pack your things and go
So why canâ€™t I tell you a thing?
And why do you always think the worst of me, babe?
