Recluse

Unbroken

no hands to touch not a soul to feel hiding myself hiding emotion all sympathy has been forgotten all affection denied I perceive nothing I perceive no one darkness is peace silence brings me peace my heart is closed no one has the key looking through tears I see your tranquility I see your joy out of reach slipping away don't past my tears question them comfort me pull me through the shadows of depression and fear pull me through the shadows of depression and to the light that has denied pull me out of this nothing but fear itself I fear more I fear loneliness
