Today

Shanti

it takes a moment to change your mind and it takes a moment to realize all your life flashes by in a blink of an eye and you say, "is it too late" live today as if it was your last day try today to forget about the past today, today it takes a moment to dream a dream and it takes a moment to believe and all our lives we've tried to see and i say, "is it too late" live today as if it was your last day and try today to forget about the past and love today as if it was your last day to say goodbye today, today, today, today it takes a moment to change your life it takes a moment to survive and all my life i have tried and i know it's not too late! chorus

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/