

After Today

David Bowie

Always in trouble
Never to blame
Must be a double
You are the same
Here it comes again
Doing the wrong thing
Forgetting your lines
Waiting for something better to shine
Take that same okay
After today, fortune man will find you
After today, they will find you working
After today, you'll find the ones you're after
After today, look out, after today
What kind of rescue?
What will you be?
Where can you take it, baby boy, for me?
Break that heart for me
After today, the fortune fan will find you
After today, they will fly you away
After today, you'll find the one you're after
After today, look out, after today
After today, the fortune fan will find you
After today, they will fly you away
After today, you'll find the one you're after
After today, look out, after today
Today, after today
After today, hey
Look out, after today
Ah, yeah, look, ah
I was gettin' in to that
