When I Wake Up Tomorrow

The Perishers

If everything's the same
When I wake up tomorrow, I'm giving up
If nothing here has changed
When I wake up tomorrow, I'm taking offOctober left some wounds
But it took a while to see
It's way too soon
To say what it's done to meBut as long as I'm okay
I want to figure it out myself
Let's just hope that in a day
I'll find a wayIf everything's the same
When I wake up tomorrow, I'm giving up
If nothing here has changed
When I wake up tomorrow, I'm taking offDecember came today
And I'm just as bored as ever
No way I'll stay
I'll leave this place foreverI hope there's time to live a while before I die
And if some day I find that time I'll try
To make the cold winter months seem just like warm July
I hope there's time to live before I dieAnd as long as I'm okay
I want to figure it out myself
Let's just hope that in a day
I'll find my wayIf everything's the same
When I wake up tomorrow, I'm giving up
If nothing here has changed
When I wake up tomorrow, I'm taking offIf everything's the same
When I wake up tomorrow
