Issues

James Durbin

If you were to say to me, if you ask what's wrong with me
I would tell you it's everything, when I'm tired and feeling sick
When it's nothing you could fix
I want you to know it's not youCause I will never be o.k., this I know, but that's o.k.
Cause my eyes are never shut, while my heart is wide awake
And it's all that I can do
Tell me, what else can I do?I've got issues, I've got scars
In the colors just like yours
I was broken right from the start
I'm not different than you are
I'm not perfect, I'm perfectly flawed
And my scratches don't hurt much at all
But just like you, I've got issuesThere were smiles, there were tears, there were times through the years
When I could not remember yesterday, everything's like a blurr,
It looses me round the curve
I'm always in a high speed chaseAnd I'm tryna get control using everything I know
But nothing seems to work, we'll never catch it
This I'm sure, and I will not forget you've been with me
Step by stepI've got issues, I've got scars
In the colors just like yours
I was broken right from the start
I'm not different than you are
I'm not perfect, I'm perfectly flawed
And my scratches don't hurt much at all
But just like you, I've got issuesAm I in hell, cause I don't understand
Is this what they say it is, to be human
And these bandages I wear to keep out the cold
I tell them that I never knowI've got issues, I've got scars
In the colors just like yours
I was broken right from the start
I'm not different than you are
I'm not perfect, I'm perfectly flawed
And my scratches don't hurt much at all
But just like you, I've got issues
