Wall Of Shame

Bager Kenneth

Something has happened to your world
Can you imagine you could
There's too much pressure on you now
Why you would ever throw away
What's been given to you
Woke up and nothing's even there
Now you're falling too far away
It is hard
Sit inside your wall of shame
Believing what's forgotten
You make it hard to find the world
Sit inside your wall of shame
Nothing even matters
What can you say but I'm to blame
When trouble lingers on your mind
You wait, but dig in deeper
There's no more room for honesty
Breathe in the vapors of your lies
Just when you're choking on them

These thoughts are spinning around your head
Now you're falling too far away
It is hard
Sit inside your wall of shame
Believing what's forgotten
You make it hard to find the world
Sit inside your wall of shame
Nothing even matters
What can you say but I'm to blame
Now you're falling too far away
It is hard
Sit inside your wall of shame
Believing what's forgotten
You make it hard to find the world
Sit inside your wall of shame
Nothing even matters
What can you say but I'm to blame
