

World at Your Feet

Satellites

I wouldn't say you were miles away
I wouldn't say you were sent from fire below
    You shout jump all around you stare
    And jump anyway it's easier that way
    You got mountains brought to your door
        By just walking across a floor
        Flashing the eyes at the biggest prize
Credit check just in caseCause you, you got the world at your feet
    I bet you kick it away
    Nothing surprises me when it comes to you
        You got the world at your feet
        You say it's not the right shape
        And needs more glittering lights
    When gravity comes knocking at your door
    And dragging your fine assets to the floor
    The clapped hands are gonna echo round
    Ladies and gentlemen next up we got a
    Vintage from yesteryear going once twice
        Perfect for your holidays?
    You got the world at your feet
        I bet you kick it away
    Nothing surprises me when it comes to you
        You got the world at your feet
        You say it's not the right shape
        And needs more glittering lights
