

No One Said This Would Be Easy

The Postmarks

No one said
That this would be easy
No one read
the fine print underneath
Up ahead
Danger is gleaming
On the edge of a lost memory
There was a recurring dream of her face
Someone that you've never seen Yet you race
Up to the ends of the Earth
To save the girl
No one said
That this would be easy
With each step
the ground disappears
And its not dead
But you can't seem to reach it
Once a friend
Has turned into a thief
You have got to find the key somewhere to unlock the mystery
if you dare
Time is nearly up for you to save the world
