Like Pacific

Start me off by calming me down.
My blood leaves my body
You can hear it hit the ground. Pardon my bed ridden sound
Over sleeping, barely eating
I never thought human contact would create this wasteland Tie my bones with string, my strength is weakening
One day I will break from these makeshift chains
Create a description you barely listen
But you heard me right this time
Forget our place, forget my name
Forget those ordinary things Fucking useless, and mostly tasteless see my eyes roll back enough, broken footsteps, my body's a doormat, there is no welcome here at all. When you decide that your ready to start again.
Forget it.
Why would I waste my time on this.
Poison, but covered in a blanket of excuses.
Come over here me out for once. No wait forget it, I'm fucking done.
