Fix the Pieces

Scarlet Fade

The clock falls to another depth
It's never ending and it takes us down to a hill
I, I think you're feeling sorry
The glass falls and the hands grow cold
It's hard to climb, when time is all that you know
I think you're feeling sorry

But you don't feel sorry enough,
You don't feel bad enough to care
And it's like I've really had enough
I've had enough

There's fire in my eyes, burning out the skies
Something's gotta change and it's tonight
Holding on tightly,because I'm scared of me
And that's when we start to,
Fix the Pieces

Be still they can come back the worst part about it is you're waiting for the attack
I think I'm feeling sorry
If you trap me in a catalyst,
I'll stand firm and victory will be mine
No I don't feel sorry

No I don't feel sorry enough,
I don't feel bad enough to care
And it's like I've really had enough!
I've had enough!

There's fire in my eyes, burning out the skies
Something's gotta change and it's tonight
Holding on tightly,because I'm scared of me
And that's when we start to...

If You had not been here, I would be so alone...
And if I had no tears, I would be so alone

There's fire in my eyes, burning out the skies

Something's gotta change and it's tonight
Holding on tightly,because I'm scared of me
And that's when we start to,

I'm broken!
So broken!
I'm broken,
Fix the Pieces

And that's when we start to,
Fix the Pieces
---
Lyrics submitted by Mike Vargas.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/