Back In the Day

Ronan Keating

Back in the day
Back in the dayShe left me all alone
She told me on the phone
Now that just don't seem rightI will close my eyes
And turn out all the lights
But I won't cry tonight
'Cause I'm already sleepingAll of those things are in the past
Like a beaten up faded photograph
Can't remember your name, who are you again?
You're history, history, yeahBack in the day, my, my, hey, hey
No more living for yesterday
Come and kiss me
I will prove there's more to me than youBack in the day, my, my, hey, hey
You don't love me and that's okay
I'm moving on and moving out
Think I can't pull through, just watch me without youShe always picked a fight
Every other night
And she was always right
Yeah, rightNo, I won't be a fool
I guess I broke some rules
But I broke them on my own
When you were with someone else at nightAll of those things are in the past
Like a beaten up faded photograph
Can't remember your name, who are you again?
You're history, history, yeahBack in the day, my, my, hey, hey
No more living for yesterday
Come and kiss me
I will prove there's more to me than youBack in the day, my, my, hey, hey
You don't love me and that's okay
I'm moving on and moving out
Think I can't pull through, just watch me without youThere's a time, punching the wall
Dying to call, willing to crawl
No way, whatever, whatever
I guess we're not meant to be together
That's okayBack in the day, my, my, hey, hey
No more living for yesterday
Come and kiss me
I will prove there's more to me than youBack in the day, my, my, hey, hey
You don't love me and that's okay

Moving on and moving out
Think I can't pull through, just watch me without you
