One More Repossession

Perfect Stranger

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

I told my boss where to get off two months ago today
Now the bills are pilling high and they're hauling things away
They took the living room sofa, the Kool-Aid stains and all
Now my butt's down on a hardwood floor and my back's against the wallOne more repossession and I'll be out of debt
But what good is a VCR without a TV set?
It's less and less depressing, yeah, the more they come again
One more repossession and I'll be out of debtLast night I turned in early 'cause they turned off the lights
Repo man took my truck in the middle of the night
Things are gone to pieces, you know the times are hard
When you have to use your Visa just to pay your MasterCardOne more repossession and I'll be out of debt
But what good is a VCR without a TV set?
It's less and less depressing, yeah, the more they come again
One more repossession and I'll be out of debtIt's less and less depressing, yeah, the more they come again
One more repossession and I'll be out of debt
Yeah, one more repossession and I'll be out of debt

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/