Never Cry Again

John Fullbright

Born upon the winds of tomorrow, sail across the water to the shore
Taking everything that they can give us, more than our fathers had before
You and I don't ask a lot of questions, questions don't get asked here very much
We know what we're seeing and when we see it, we know what we're feeling when we touchChorus:
So take my hand so we don't get lost, I spend the coin I used to toss
I never knew what love would cost 'til I lost it in the end
Never claimed to soar so high that I forgot that I could fly
You never knew what never was, you'd never cry againVerse 2
We took the path that seemed familiar, as if we knew which way to go
So ???? to the tourists, as if we had anything to show
Days were long and without number, like nothing bad should ever last
As long as lasting was the answer, we answered everything so fastRepeat Chorus (last line x2)
