

From Where I Began

Dylan Jakobsen

Now I'm thinking 'bout leaving this place I call my roots,

Stepping on down that highway in these boots,

But I don't wanna be another one of what they want,

I wanna write the songs I want to,

And bust my ass to make it where I am,

From where I beganI've been a wild horse,

I've been a fast train,

I've put some miles on this hungry soul of mine,

Chasing the night with this gift that I've been given,

Of a six string telling every story that I write,

When you keep holding on to this thing for a lifetime,

Play for tips in bars and strangers passing by,

Oh it's taught me everything there is to offer,

Yeah it's brought me up to where I stand tonightNow I'm thinking 'bout leaving this place I call my roots,

Stepping on down that highway in these boots,

But I don't wanna be another one of what they want,

I wanna write the songs I want to,

And bust my ass to make it where I am,

From where I beganI've been a fighter,

And I'll take the last punch,

For the things that I believe are what is right,

And if you want it,

You gotta work hard just to get it,

Enough to spark a fire in your eyesNow I'm thinking 'bout leaving this place I call my roots,

Stepping on down that highway in these boots,

But I don't wanna be another one of what they want,

I wanna write the songs I want to,

And bust my ass to make it where I am,

From where I beganWell here's to the long drives and the places,

Seen a million different faces,

From the bars and the basements,

To the nightclubs and the stadiums,

All the chances that we're taking,

And the memories that we're making,

For a dream that you've gone chasingNow I'm thinking 'bout leaving this place I call my roots,

Stepping on down that highway in these boots,

But I don't wanna be another one of what they want,

I wanna write the songs I want to,

And bust my ass to make it where I am,

Yeah I'm gon' bust my ass to make it where I am,
And hell it just might shape me up a better man,
From where I began
