

How Can I Say

Erasure

Downtown I'm homeward bound
The city lights are looking bright tonight
No love lost between us
When I see you things are looking up And though it's cold, inside I'm warm
Devoid of worries, no love is forlorn How can I say what must remain unspoken
Don't want to spoil all that we said before
So many cry baby hearts to be broken
Don't want to join in with their crazy wars You tease, I try to please
Though I know I'm not looking my best tonight
Hard pressed, you've had the rest
Of all the choices, time to make your mind up And though you smile you're sad inside
But do not worry, 'cause I'll make it right How can I say what must remain unspoken
Don't want to spoil all that we said before
So many cry baby hearts to be broken
Don't want to join in with their crazy wars How can I say what must remain unspoken
Don't want to spoil all that we said before
