

Falling Down

Turin Brakes

You move so sweet
There's enough to write a book about it
When you speak
It takes a while for the words to settle down
They carry on into the next town. Stick through sand drag your name
Drag your name you're always falling down
Cover your face
Take a seat, your always falling down You burn so slow
You burn the way every candle wants to go when you dance
You take the breeze
You take the breeze and spin it right through me Stick through sand drag your name
Drag your name you're always falling down
Cover your face
Take a seat, your always falling down
