She Is

Deep Blue Something

Who am I to say what I believe
Is the way things should be?
What am I to think what I've got
Is what everyone wants?
So what makes you so perfect, man?
What makes you think that you're so special?
She is everything that I could ever be
She is everything that I believe in
Can't you see that she and me
Are the way things should be?
I'm the type that thinks
That everything will somehow work out
So I'm inclined to think
That maybe she really needs me
So what makes you so perfect, man
What makes you think that you're so special?
She is everything that I could ever be
She is everything that I believe in
Can't you see that she and me
Are the way things should be?

Can't you see that she and me
Are the way things could be?
Everything that I am
Everything that I'm not, she is
Everything I can do
Everything I could ever need
But everything I can do
Is everything, everything you've done
Everyday, you're in the way
And every way, you're in the way
And every way, you're in the way
You're always gettin' in my way
She is everything that I could ever be
She is everything that I believe in
She is everything that I could ever be
She is everything that I believe in
She is everything that I could ever be
She is everything that I believe in

She is everything that I could ever be
She is everything that I believe in
