

The Lights

Juliana Hatfield

I follow the path of a falling star
It takes me closer to where you are, are
What can I do, I try to be with you
But I can only go so far, you're light years ahead of me
So bright that I can't help but see
And you, I know how good it could be
I try to look outside myself, I try to find some outside help
I'll try to sleep 'til you come up tonight
And I'll lie down right under the lights
For a little while I can feel all right
A better life is in plain sight
I'll be fine until the time comes to put out all of the lights
Half a moon is moon enough to get me all the way across the bay
A roman candle shoots off from the beach
And lightning strikes a place way out of my reach
I'd say I have the perfect view if only it was always true
But in dark is it most of the time
When I get right down in front of the lights
Sometimes I really start to feel all right
A better life is in plain sight
I'll be fine until the sun comes up
And dims the light of the night
Come up right down next to me
I don't have to say anything
It's better than any made up fantasy
Looking out and looking up
I can see with my eyes shut
This might just be the best time of my life
And when I get right down in front of the lights
Sometimes I really start to feel all right
A better life is in plain sight
I'll be fine until the time comes to put out all of the lights
