That's All She Wrote

Reba McEntire

Well, it looks like you're alone again
I heard about your misery
She took you around the bend
And now you're coming back to meThat's all she wrote
Forget about her, let her go
That's all she wrote
And I love to say I told you soI think I knew what happened late last night
I can tell by looking in your eyes
She spelled it out in black and white
And she left no room for compromiseThat's all she wrote
Forget about her, let her go
That's all she wrote
And I love to say I told you soI could see it from a mile away
But I don't wanna rub it in
All I want is just to hear you say
That you're ready, are you ready
To love me again?That's all she wrote
Forget about her, let her go
That's all she wrote
And I love to say I told you soOh, we can put all behind us now
Let's pretend it never happened
We'll forget about the pain somehow
If you're ready, are you ready
To love me again?That's all she wrote
Forget about her, let her go
That's all she wrote
And I love to say I told you soThat's all she wrote
And I love to say I told you so
That's all she wrote

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/