Let's Get Alone

Versus the Mirror

a toast to those who taste the glorious breath a sweet reminder stained on a lover's neck if it wasn't for this then I could hardly be the sadistic masochist that I am todayreact and fall because this is war

a truth a trust

broken and torn apartI'm planning all the words I speak just to keep you heredeign yourself and proclaim your fate a knuckle bled for you when twilight hit thin air lost among the searching sinners only for one last time I want to hear you screamreact and fall because this is war

a truth a trust

broken and torn apartthis bed is certainly the last place that we will ever meetdeign yourself and proclaim your fate a knuckle bled for you when twilight hit thin air lost among the searching sinners only for one last time I want to hear you screamI stole drops from the emerald sea This life is what will be the death of meA snap hand comeback and I've got nothing to lose.

A snap hand comeback and I've got nothing to lose.

A snap hand comeback and I've got nothing to lose.

A snap hand comeback and I won't let you in.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/