Boy In A Bubble

The Alter Boys

I'm a boy in a bubble
Safe from a world that momma calls evil
She says she knows what's best for me
And so does my daddyTrapped in a plastic coccon
It's this sterile womb that keeps me alive
And able to smile though sometimes I'm sad
When all I want to do is go outside and playCandy fields and sugar trees -- Immune deficiency disease
Windex rain fluorescent sun -- Never touched by anyone
Self-contained in cellophane -- Quarantined yet on display
The TV screen it speaks to me -- It shows me the life I'm missing
Wear my disease on your sleeve -- Mother you're so naive
Can't you see this isn't a life worth livingDon't you find it hard to believe in God
Look what he's done to meNight and day spent in this cage
Perpetually been disengaged
Can't smell the flowers or your perfume
Can't taste the lips your kiss consumes
My every thought my every dream
Get me out of this goddamn thing
My life's the dark side of the moon
If I had a pin I'd pop this balloonCandy fields and sugar trees -- Immune deficiency disease
Windex rain fluorescent sun -- Never touched by anyone
