

Older

Klaatu

Older

It seems like each day you get older
And each day the world becomes colder
In a cynical way

Time

Do you feel like you've missed your time?

I feel like I've missed mine

And I'm losing my way I think it's time you realized

For I can see it in your eyes

You seem convinced that you will live forever Over

I feel like my life has blown over

I keep looking over my shoulder

And seeing nothing but grey It's a crime

Don't it seem like such a crime

I wish I had more time

But I'm drifting away Older

You see it's like I told you

You've gained the right to grow older

By living today I think it's time you realized

For I can see it in your eyes

You seem convinced that you will live forever
