Everywhere

Cara Dillon

Everywhere you go, everywhere you see
There's nothing much to say now and days go by between
And if I had a sign, I wouldn't feel the need
'Cause if I held you now, I might as well hold a dreamEverywhere you go, everywhere you see
There's nothing much to say now and days go by between
If I had a sign, I wouldn't feel the need
If I held you now, I might as well be holding a dreamEverywhere you go, everywhere I'll be
There mightn't be much left to say but days go by and I'll not forget
We've got all this time and I've got all I need
Will you hold me now 'cause you're all that matters to me?
